It is actually a bunch of high res. photos with a special program (you will need to download a free viewer) that stitches them together into a 3D model of the property. The photos take up about 30 gig of data space. I have them on a thumb drive that I can bring over when you wish, but I wanted to let you know the size and the need to download a program to see if your IT folks would have a cow.

Let me know,

Scott

Hey, Scott, thanks for taking the call from Wally and me today. Wally is interested in viewing the drone footage you mentioned. How could we get access to it?
